Re: Ex parte written submission of Google Inc:
WT Docket Nos. 06-150 and 06-169; PS Docket No. 06-229

Dear Chairman Martin:

Google Inc. supports the Commission promptly issuing a public notice seeking comment on the Frontline band allocation and auction rules proposal submitted in the above-cited dockets. Google believes that Frontline's proposal, regardless of one's views of its ultimate merits, deserves a full and equitable hearing.

To be clear, Google strongly opposes any delays to the upcoming 700 MHz auction. The Commission needs to stay on course to comply with current statutory mandates, and lay the proper groundwork for the 700 MHz auctions to begin sometime this fall. Nonetheless, Frontline has put forward an important alternative to various proposals already on the table. The Commission should ensure that it has the ability to consider and adopt the Frontline proposal. Asking for public comment expeditiously is the appropriate next step.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Richard S. Whitt, Esq.
